Celebrating 50 years of our Grand World Voyage.

At Holland America Line, it is a belief that each voyage should be as breathtaking as each destination. In fact, they have built a 130-year reputation for excellence upon that very philosophy—making the five-star cruise line one of the highest rated in the world.

In that spirit, Holland America Line proudly celebrates the 50th Golden Anniversary of its first Grand World Voyage, dating back to 1958, as it presents four new Grand Voyages for 2008.

Holland America Line's twin flagship ms Amsterdam will host the company's 44th World Cruise in January, along with a 65-day Grand Asia & Australia cruise in the fall.

And a more intimate ms Prinsendam will sail on a 68-day South America and Antarctica voyage, departing January 3, followed by a 73-day spring journey around the African coast.

American Express Mariner Club

Immerse yourself in an ocean of extraordinary experiences and exciting possibilities. Retreat to new, exotic worlds. Journey to lands of enrichment and enchantment. 2008 GRAND WORLD VOYAGE

January 4–April 24 or 27, 2008

113 days round-trip from Fort Lauderdale, Florida

Holland America Line is a leader in world cruising.

The year 2008 will mark the 44th Grand World Voyage and the 50th anniversary of its first world cruise.

The 2008 Grand World Voyage offers an unforgettable journey, sailing on the spectacular twin flagship ms Amsterdam for what will be her fourth world cruise.

The itinerary encompasses 39 unique ports in 29 different countries across six continents and has been fashioned to offer a taste of some of the world's most popular destinations, along with some lesser-known, unspoiled ports of call.

Cruise the Panama Canal, cross the international date line, experience the wonders "down under," enjoy the serenity of the Far East and visit the legendary ports of Europe.

Departing January 4, 2008, you will sail 114 days round-trip from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, returning on April 27, 2008. As an added convenience, if you are unable to enjoy the entire World Cruise, guests may disembark three days earlier in New York. In addition, several exciting segment options,* ranging from 10 to 56 days, are also available.

*Individual segments and segment combinations are available. Embarkation and disembarkation ports on itinerary indicated in bold.

EXCLUSIVE COMPLIMENTARY MARINER CLUB SHORESIDE EXCURSIONS

Dakar, Senegal—March 28, 2008

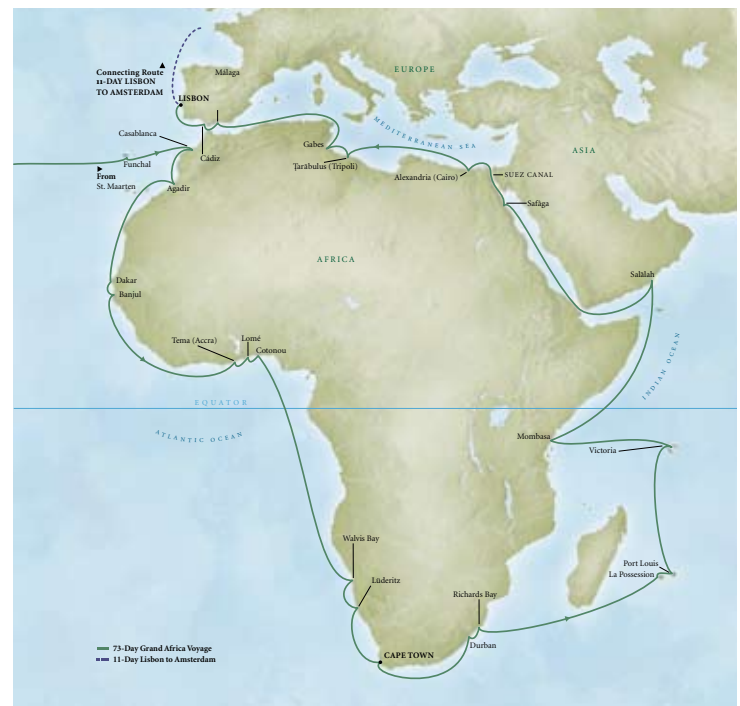

Take in such famous sights as Kermel Market, Independence Square, the President's Palace and the Great Mosque. Next, visit the "Art Village," home to the workshops of famous Senegalese artists. Then, enjoy a stop at Soumbédioune handicraft market, followed by lunch at Terrou Bi.

Gabes, Tunisia—May 17, 2008

Visit Matmata, a village known for its unusual homes. Created from craters dug into the ground, they're designed to protect locals from attack and extreme temperatures. Continue on to the oasis town of Douz, the "gateway to the Sahara." Here, enjoy lunch, a folkloric show, shopping and a horse-drawn carriage ride.

YOUR MARINER CLUB HOSTS

Tom & Carol Ross. Carol and Tom both learned to love travel as children. (By age 16 Tom had visited 48 states!) Together they have been on more than 200 cruises, both as passengers and as bridge instructors (they are both Life Masters), sharing a passion for people and their cultures. Retired now, Tom was in marketing and Carol a nurse. They both play the piano and are fervent readers and movie fans.

2008 GRAND ASIA & AUSTRALIA

September 19–November 23, 2008
65 days Seattle to San Diego

Sail off to the gems of the Pacific aboard the stately ms Amsterdam. Experience an unforgettable 65-day voyage designed to explore three diverse regions of the Pacific Rim. Unique cultures, ancient treasures and natural beauty abound as you venture into Asia, Australia and the Polynesian Islands.

Spend two full days in Hong Kong and take the time to immerse yourself in the ancient traditions and cosmopolitan energy of this magnificent city. Discover bustling Laem Chabang, Bangkok, known as “the Venice of Asia.” Explore Australia’s premier cities, Melbourne and Sydney. Then, venture off to the exotic South Pacific islands of Fiji and Samoa.

The final portion of this journey takes you to Polynesia and the spectacular Hawaiian Islands. Once the trip is complete, you will have crossed the equator and the international date line twice—but the experience itself will be once in a lifetime.

Departing September 19, 2008, you will sail 65 days from Seattle, Washington, disembarking in San Diego, California, on November 23, 2008.

For those not able to participate in the full voyage, shorter segments* are also available.

*Individual segments and segment combinations are available. Embarkation and disembarkation ports on itinerary indicated in bold.
